National Guard Bands Get New Uniforms--Raleigh Election Monday--Twelfth District Appeals--Order of Owls in the Spotlight Again.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, April 25.—There are being sent out to each of the three bands of the North Carolina National Guard just now by Gen. T. R. Roberson, in charge of the ordinance department of the guard here, new full dress blue uniforms that the members of the band can put into commission at once for special occasions. The bands are: First Regiment, Asheville; Second Regiment, Kinston and Third Regiment, Raleigh.

Postmaster Willis G. Briggs who makes an effort to extend any accommodation that may be asked of him, is puzzled just now over a request that came to him today from someone at Raleigh, N. C., for a catalogue to be sent to him of "curled dogs and yellow hounds." The postmaster suspects that the breeding of these at Raleigh may have flourished at one time and might be revived. He says he has referred the matter to "Billie" Boylan.

Raleigh's election takes place next Monday and then the newly elected officers are to assume the reins of government on the following Friday. There are a number of surprises as to probable changes in the offices filled by the aldermen. Some believe that there may be a new member of the board of audit and finance to relieve S. J. Hinsdale; a new sanitary officer to relieve C. M. Walters and a new chief of the fire department in the place of Chief Lonnie Lumsden. These officers worked, it is said, against the good government forces that succeeded in electing five of the eight aldermen. However, there are those recognized as politically wise in city politics who hint that probably neither of these changes will be made.

Governor Kitchin today recommissioned Dr. J. Howell Way, Waynesville, and Dr. W. O. Spencer, Winston-Salem, as members of the State Board of Health.

An order issued today by Governor Kitchin directs Judge Frank Carter to hold the Wilson court beginning May 15 instead of Judge G. W. Ward, who is unwell.

Twelfth district appeals were called for argument today in the Supreme court in the following order:

State vs. Houston, Byles and Boyd, from Mecklenburg, argued by attorney general for the State and Stewart & McRae and Redd for the defendants.

Holmes vs. Holmes, administrator, from Mecklenburg, by Stewart & McRae for the defendant.

Byrd vs. North Carolina railroad, from Cabarrus, by Montgomery and Burwell and Caldwell for the defendant.

McWhirter vs. McWhirter, Mecklenburg, by Burwell and Cansler and Kuran for the plaintiff.

Alexander vs. Savings Bank & Trust Co., Mecklenburg, by Alexander for the plaintiff and Dold and Stewart & McRae for the defendant.

Carroll vs. Seaboard Air Line, from Mecklenburg, by Ladd and Stewart & McRae for defendant and Burwell and Cansler and Hutchinson for the defendant.

Williams vs. Southern Railway from Mecklenburg, R. E. Preston and Neill R. Graham for the plaintiff and Rodwell for the defendant.

The latest especially notable acquisition for the state museum is a monster torpedo fish that possessed a battery when captured at Pea Island off the coast of Dare county, that would easily knock down the stoutest man that touched him. The fish weighs about forty pounds, measures three feet in length and 25 inches across. It is highly prized by Curator H. H. Brimley and will be mounted and given a prominent case in the museum. It was captured by Jesse B. Ethridge, keeper of the Pea Island gun club house and was shipped here under instructions from Curator Brimley to send any rare specimens found.

Curator Brimley and Assistant Curator Addick, of the museum, left today for a trip to the eastern section of the State looking for desirable specimens. They are making good progress on the special cases in which are to be shown the coastal, the swamp bird and reptile life with the setting and environment just as natural as it is possible to make it. Immense alligators and such will be especially featured and surrounded by all the smaller creatures and fowls that move about them on their native haunts. This work is already far advanced and additional material is being gathered steadily.

Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young left today for Charlotte to attend the trial of J. J. Garlington and Holland, agents for the Order of Owls for proceeding with the organization of "nests" without first procuring the state license. The Owls will, it is understood, set up the defense that their work does not come within the scope of the State law that requires State license to do insurance. This same fight with the same order is on in several other states and the outcome is being watched with considerable interest. The insurance people claim that there is a complete case against the order so far as their liability for state license if they do business in the State is concerned.

The premium list for the field and garden crop exhibits in the North Carolina State Fair to be held this year October 16 to 21 is just issued by the fair management and includes a long list of cash prizes running into thousands of dollars for excelling in a great variety of crops, a notable change being that for the individual exhibits of collective farm products there will be this year three instead of two premiums. They will be $300, $200 and $100. There are the premiums again for the contests by men and boys in corn-growing, the scale running from $50 to $40, $30, $20, $10 and $5, this being somewhat different basis from that in force last fair. There is a considerable increase in the number of prizes for tobacco, this being enlarged partly through cooperation of J. O. W. Gravelly, and others of Rocky Mount.

Capt. T. B. Parker, director of the farmer's institute and the boy's corn contest divisions of the State department of agriculture, has gone to Montgomery county to hold a special farmer's institute. He will not begin the regular annual series of institutes to cover the state until about July 15. Then he will put probably five different parties in the field to serve different sections of the state with a view to giving the farmers of every section the benefit of the institutes, before the summer and fall are passed. He says the boys the State over are taking great interest in the corn club contests. It is a fact that he desires to be generally known that boys can enter the same acre of corn for competition with the United States department and the State department and have chance at prizes offered in both.

MOTHERS

Special to Telegram.

Washington, April 25.—The "World's Debt to Child" will be discussed at the second international congress on child welfare, which opened here tonight with a reception to the delegates by the officers at the Arlington. The program of addresses begins tomorrow morning, the first item of business being the report of the president, Mrs. Frederick Schoff, of Philadelphia, and other officers.

Noted Speakers on Program.
Washington, April 25.—The presence of many men and women internationally prominent in the child study movement, at the opening here today of the Second International Congress on Child Welfare lent added dignity to a convention the importance of which to the world at large can scarcely be overestimated. The congress meets under the joint auspices of the National Congress of Mothers and the Parent-Teachers Association. The relations and duties of home, school, church and state to the welfare of the child are to be the principal topics of discussion.

During the six days of the convention addresses will be delivered that will command the attention of the nation, not only because of the prominence of the men and women who will make them. Foremost among the scheduled speakers are Mrs. Frederick Schoff of Philadelphia, president of the National Congress of Mothers; James Bryce, the British ambassador in Washington; Mrs. B. F. Carroll, wife of the governor of Iowa; Dr. Elmer E. Brown, United States Commissioner of Education; Mrs. Clarence D. Clark, wife of former Senator Clark of Wyoming; Mrs. Fred T. Du Bois, wife of former Senator Du Bois of Idaho; Mrs. Charles D. Carter, wife of Representative Carter of Oklahoma; Mrs. A. L. Hamilton, of California; Miss Helen McKinney, of West Virginia, and Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone of Texas, former president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

SENATOR OFFERED BRIBE OF $2,500

Offer Made Senator McCormick of Illinois for His Vote for Lorimer—Testimony was Offered Yesterday Before Investigating Committee at Springfield.

Special to Telegram.

Springfield, Ill., April 25.—John M. Pfeffer, formerly private secretary to Albert J. Hopkins, was before the Senate committee in the Lorimer investigation today and testified that former State Senator George McCormick, in a conversation in a hotel in Springfield ten days before the election of Lorimer as Senator, told him he had been offered $2,500 to vote for Lorimer.

WHEN WILL CONGRESS

ADJOURN A QUESTION.
Washington, April 25.—Speaker Clark does not agree with Senator Root that Congress is likely to adjourn by June 1. At the white house today, where he said he had talked "neighborhood gossip" with Mr. Taft, Mr. Clark declared that nobody in the world knew how long Congress would be here.

"I know as much about it as Senator Root and he knows as much about it as I do," said Mr. Clark. "I have attended two special sessions of Congress called to revise the tariff which lasted into August. There you are."

BIG DAMAGE SUIT WILL BE CONCLUDED TODAY.

The taking of evidence in the case of Hardwood Manufacturing Company vs. North Carolina Railroad Company was concluded in Superior court yesterday afternoon just before adjournment. A night session was held and two arguments made to the jury. The case will be concluded about noon. The suit is for the recovery of damages to the amount of $20,000, the plaintiff alleging that its plant was burned because of the negligence of the defendant.

PRIMARY RESULTS BEING DISCUSSED

Surprises of Monday's Election Furnish Food for Thought—Question of Payment of Poll Taxes up—May Have to be Settled by Election Officers.

The result of the primary on Monday was the topic of discussion yesterday, it being an established fact that the vote in many instances was a complete surprise to all and especially to the candidates who were confident of getting in the general election. The successful candidates were not allowing any grass to grow under their feet and were quite active soliciting votes for the general election on next Tuesday.

The candidates and their supporters will be quite busy this week calling on the voters who have registered and the result of the election Tuesday is speculative. T. J. Murphy, who has a lead of 29 votes over S. H. Boyd, is confident of securing a majority of the votes cast for mayor. Mr. Boyd and his friends are working hard and are equally confident of a safe majority. E. A. Brown has a lead of 311 votes over J. R. Cutchin for Commissioner of Public Safety and feels sure of polling a large majority. Mr. Cutchin is counting on many of the voters who supported the other two candidates and believes that he will come out ahead. For Commissioner of Public Works J. G. Ponshee has a lead of 351 votes over W. T. Sergeant, his opponent in the election. He is confident of having a large majority Tuesday. Mr. Sergeant's friends are pointing to his past record as chairman of the Water and Light Commission and state that they do not believe that the voters of the city will turn down a man who has been tried and proved a success. So they are working hard, while Mr. Sergeant is giving his entire time to his work for the city, saying that if the voters so desire he is willing to still serve them to the best of his ability, or if they want another man for the place he is perfectly willing to abide by their decision.

Judge Euse, who has no opposition, says one vote will elect him and he can cast this one vote himself, if no one else cares to do so. He is, therefore, taking his election as a matter of fact.

There is some speculation as to whether a person can vote in the election on May 2 unless he has paid his poll tax prior to May 1. Some contend that the charter states that the fact that a voter has not paid his poll tax by May 1 will debar such voter from participating in the election. Others state that it means that unless he paid his poll tax for the preceding year, before May 1, 1910, a person cannot vote, but that a person can vote whether he has paid his poll tax for 1911 or not.

Section 33 of the charter says: "That all persons entitled to vote for members of the General Assembly, if held at the time of the election provided for in the preceding section, (meaning the election to be held on May 2) and who have been residents of the city and precinct in which they offer to vote for four months next preceding the day of election, and shall have been registered as provided herein, shall be allowed to vote for Mayor and two Commissioners, Judge of Municipal Court, and other elective officers."

So the question brought up is could a voter participate in an election of members of the General Assembly, should it be held on May 2, 1911, without having paid his 1911 poll tax prior to May 1? How this matter will be finally settled is not known, unless it is left with the judges of election, who are invested with full judicial power to pass upon and decide upon the qualifications of the voters desiring to participate. Should the judges decide that a person must pay his poll tax before May 1 in order to participate in the election Tuesday then there will be some hard work on the part of the candidates and their supporters to have all voters who have not done so pay their poll tax this week. It is roughly estimated that one-third of those who voted Monday have not as yet paid their tax for the current year, 1911. The candidates will no doubt, be on the safe side, work to this end and the clerks in the sheriff's office will have to work overtime during the remainder of the week.

The judges of election who will, in all probability, be called upon to settle the question are J. W. Coppedge, J. B. Minor, J. R. Donnell, J. T. Hunt, J. R. Pitts, R. A. Gilmer for Morehead precinct. A. A. Chandler, H. W. Wharton, Frank A. Brooks, L. M. Clymer, J. F. Troxler, J. Henry Phipps for Gilmer precinct.

REVISION

Of Tariff Schedule by Schedule Program of Democrats Says Underwood.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, April 25.—In the opening debate on the Farmers' free list bill in the House this afternoon Chairman Underwood declared that his party would revise the tariff schedule by schedule and every item would be brought to a revenue basis.

Much Talk Looked For.
Washington, April 25.—The tariff again holds the attention of Congress. It made its appearance today in the shape of the free list bill, which was called up just before adjournment yesterday and which threatens to lead to almost endless debate before it finally is passed along to the Senate.

Leaders on both sides of the House foresee long days of talk ahead. That the measure will pass is generally conceded, but it will not command the heavy toll of Republican votes given to the Canadian reciprocity.

Amendments already are beginning to pour in and efforts are being made by free trade Democrats to enlarge the scope of the measure.

While the Senate was not in session today interest centered in the executive session of the Republican committee on committees which is trying to heal the differences over the committee assignments between the regular and progressive members of the party in that body. Chairman Gallinger today hopes he could report the assignments Thursday.

FEUDIST WAS COLD-BLOODED.

Jackson, Ky., April 25.—George Bush, chief witness at the preliminary trial of the Devlins and E. J. White for the shooting of Jason Deaton, testified that after shooting Deaton, White coolly felt his pulse and finding that his heart was still beating, shot him again, saying, "Well, I've met him at last."

It was feared that the feud would break out again as a result of the testimony given at the trial, but so far all is quiet.

DETAILS OF ALLEGED CONFESSION SECURED

Artie E. McManigal Implicates a Prominent Californian in Los Angeles Catastrophe—The Three Prisoners Being Carried to Los Angeles for Trial.

Special to Telegram.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 25.—For the first time since the arrest of James B. McNamara, John J. McNamara and Artie E. McManigal, the men charged with being implicated in the explosion that wrecked the Times building in Los Angeles, the details of the admissions or confession alleged to have been made in Chicago by McManigal, were secured tonight. McManigal, it is alleged, made a flat admission that he has actively been working with James B. McNamara under the alias of J. B. Brice in various dynamite plots under the direction of J. J. McNamara.

The feature of the confession lies in the implication of at least one well-known Californian, whose name is withheld in the interest of justice. McManigal's statement makes it apparent that the Los Angeles affair was the climax of long thought out and elaborately laid plans. McManigal is also charged with having engineered the blowing up of the Llewellyn Iron Works in this city on last Christmas morning.

Enroute to Los Angeles.

Gallup, New Mexico, April 25.—Barrington accidents John J. McNamara, James B. McNamara and Artie E. McManigal, who are being hurried to Los Angeles in the custody of detectives, will arrive at their destination tomorrow. They are charged with dynamiting the Times building.

Peanut Vendors Pass Queer Money.

New York, April 25.—To catch men suspected of passing counterfeit money on street vendors, four detectives enacted the role of peanut vendors and soon arrested two suspects.

AYCOCK MAY BE CANDIDATE IF PEOPLE WILL RUN HIM

This Statement Made Yesterday to Friend--His Backers Anxious for Ex-Governor to Announce--Judge Clark Will Run, It Is Said.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, April 25.—"If I am to be a candidate for the United States Senate the people must run me," is the way ex-Governor Aycock expressed himself today in conversation with a close friend.

The ex-governor is known to be averse to a long-drawn-out and strenuous campaign. He doesn't mind the strenuousness, it is said, but he doesn't want such a long siege of it as would be the case should he come out at this time, with the primary to be held next summer or fall. However, there are many of his friends who believe the people of the State should, under the circumstances, be advised as to whether or not he will undertake the race. That Senator Simmons is standing for re-election is officially known and that Governor Kitchin is in the race against him is settled to the extent that he has so stated to numerous friends with his definite public announcement only awaiting whatever he may consider the most opportune moment to take the whole people into his confidence.

Then there is the possibility of some others getting into the race and Aycock's friends want him to get in on the ground floor. This may bring from him some definite statement of the possibility of his making the race, although it is not expected that he will come out in a formal announcement of candidacy for a great while yet.

Along with other senatorial talk there come persistent expressions from the "politically wise" that Chief Justice Clark not only proposes to stand for the senatorship, but that he is now busy with the "mending of his fences." Indeed, that he is actually running for the Senate, so far as steady work among the people as he can reach them in a quiet way is concerned. Many believe that whether ex-Governor Aycock gets in the race or not Judge Clark will be in the running and will put up a strenuous campaign. Thus far he has not expressed himself in such way as would bring about the presentation of his real attitude in a newspaper way.

PUREST ENGLISH USED IN TRANSLATING BIBLE

King James Edition Better Than Any Body of Scholars Could Produce Today.

Boston, April 25.—That the men who translated the King James Bible 300 years ago knew how to use the English language better than any body of the scholars that could be gathered together in the whole world today is the opinion of President William H. P. Faunce, of Brown university. Speaking at the Bible Bicentenary meeting in Trinity church Dr. Faunce said:

"Men knew how to use language then as we know how to use edged tools today. We can't equal them. We know too much to be simple. We have too many doubts to be so sure; we are too conscious of the verdicts of the critics to aim straight at the hearts of the people. Since 1612 no man in England or America has written in such direct or simple style as these Bible translators, save John Bunyan and Abraham Lincoln—the latter in his second inauguration and Gettysburg address."

MUSCATINI HAS GONE UNDER MILITARY RULE

No public meetings of any sort are to be permitted after dark. No crowds will be permitted and three persons will be adjudged a crowd. All social and religious meetings of every description will of a necessity be abandoned as long as the troops remain in Muscatine.

FAMOUS NEWBERN CASE AGAINST BANK DIRECTORS NOLLE PROSSED

Women Students Bested.

Madison, Wis., April 25.—The men students at the University of Wisconsin are more proficient in their college work than the women, according to the annual elections to Phi Beta Kappa fraternity, announced yesterday by the faculty, when 13 men and seven women were given membership in that honorary scholastic society.

New Bern, April 25.—At today's session of Federal court the case against C. L. Stevens and J. D. Taylor, charged with complicity with J. R. B. Caraway, who is now serving a term at the Federal prison at Atlanta for misappropriation of funds, was nolle prossed. This case has been in court for a number of years and has attracted state-wide interest.

UNION LABOR AND THE DYNAMITE

On October 1st, 1910, the building of the Los Angeles Times was wrecked by dynamite and twenty-one employees of the paper lost their lives in the explosion. On the same day attempts were made to dynamite the auxiliary plant of the Times, situated in another part of the city from that in which the main building was located; and an attempt was also made to destroy the home of General Harrison Gray Otis, publisher of the Times, and the home of the Secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of Los Angeles, an organization which had for years assisted the Times in its fight on organized labor.

It was natural that General Otis and his friends should at once charge union labor with responsibility for the outrage and the death of more than a score of innocent men. The accusations were bitterly denied by union labor leaders; but the mystery of the destruction of the Times building was not cleared up. Detectives were placed at work on the case, the principal detective being William J. Burns, the man who worked up the San Francisco graft cases. As a result of the work of Burns, John J. McNamara, Secretary and Treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was arrested in Indianapolis last Saturday, charged with being implicated in the wrecking of the Times building; and it was then made known that on April 12 in Detroit McNamara's brother, a union printer, and a structural iron worker named McMonigal had been arrested under the same charge.

The further details of the case have been covered in the news dispatches and are familiar to the public. The finding of dynamite and infernal machines in various places, the seizing of the books and papers found at the Indianapolis headquarters of the iron workers' organization and the legal battles which have already begun between organized labor and the men who are determined to run down and punish the perpetrators of the Los Angeles outrage, furnish a swiftly moving and intensely dramatic chapter in what promises to be one of the most sensational events in the history of the contest between organized labor and the foes of organization in this country.

Referring to the conspiracy which is charged against union labor, and in which it is asserted that an agreement was made to destroy the property and perhaps the lives of a number of men who have been active in their opposition to unionism, the New York World says:

"Whether proof of such a conspiracy can be established is a matter that will have to be determined in court, along with the guilt or innocence of the persons now under arrest. Without accepting the accusations or the statements of the detectives, the fact remains that after twenty years of warfare between Gen. Otis and the labor unions the Los Angeles Times building was blown up, presumably by dynamite, and twenty-one lives were destroyed. Somebody committed the crime.

"No element in the country has a greater personal interest in seeing that the guilty are brought to punishment than the rank and file of organized labor. No element has suffered more from crimes of violence committed ostensibly for its benefit or has more to lose by the continuation of such crimes.

"Organized labor cannot blink the fact that unionism is in great peril in this country, however great the good that has resulted from it. As an institution it is unincorporated and responsible to no laws and to no government. In spite of the tremendous industrial, economic and social power that it exerts, it manages its affairs without public accountability. Its oligarchies raise and expend vast sums of money in ways of which the public has no knowledge. Its operations are veiled in mystery and reach out to every part of the country. No corporation would be permitted to exercise a hundredth part of the irresponsible power that organized labor has gathered into its hands.

"If union labor will not assist in the process of purging itself of its own criminal elements, union labor is facing the crisis of its career. The American people have shown that they can curb the corporations. They will curb the unions too if life and property can be protected in no other way."

There is some solid food for reflection in the above, and union labor men everywhere should begin to think about the real condition of their organizations in the light of the admonitions administered by the World. The stability and permanency of unionism in this country is imperiled, and the danger is from within the ranks of unionism and not from without. The organization of laboring men has been vastly helpful to the workmen as individuals and collectively, and much greater and more lasting good would have been accomplished had it not been for the intemperance words and actions and the excesses of men allied with union labor. As a matter of fact it has been impossible to keep the various unions entirely free from irresponsible and criminal individuals, but it is doubtful if due care and direction has been exercised in this respect by the leaders of unionism. In the desire for numbers, to swell the ranks, and because, no doubt, of the fact that some of the leaders have been men of the wrong stamp of character, men have been admitted to the unions who have proven only a source of trouble to their progress and a hindrance to the advancement of the real interests of the workmen. This condition of affairs has prevailed until matters have reached the state referred to, in which the perils that beset unionism are evident on all sides. For several years organized labor has been steadily losing friends among the business men of the country, among the manufacturers, among the employers of labor, and the result has been that labor and capital have been drifting further and further apart, instead of growing closer together and getting on a more friendly basis of co-operation and mutual esteem.

As a matter of fact, labor is not wholly to blame for this condition. Capitalists and employers must be charged with their fair share of responsibility; but unwise and unfit leaders of labor have done more to bring about this state of affairs than have unfair and unreasonable employers. These are facts and the union men of the country must face them and must remedy the evils which have been introduced into their organizations, if they would preserve these organizations and make them the effective agencies for the betterment of the condition of workmen which they were evidently originally designed to be and which they may yet prove to be, if organized labor casts out its unwise leaders, its irresponsible and dangerous elements and proceeds in a reasonable, sensible and lawful manner to press the claims of the workmen to recognition and fair treatment and a square deal all along the line.

The making of the unmaking of unionism is now in the hands of organized workmen. They can destroy organization or they can act as to effect its permanency, with all the benefits it is calculated to secure for the workers. The future of unionism depends on the course of labor leaders and the mass of laboring men at this time and in the near future.

In the case of the Los Angeles Times, the union men of the country have much to gain or lose by the decision they make to attempt to block the wheels of justice or to assist in bringing the perpetrators of this grave crime to an account for their terrible deed. The men so far implicated may or may not be guilty. There is little likelihood of their conviction unless a clear case of guilt is made out against them. Therefore, if they are innocent, union labor will lose nothing by insisting upon and aiding in making a rigid and impartial investigation. If they are guilty, union labor will gain much and lose nothing by insisting that they be punished. If the men resting under charges are not the guilty parties and their innocence is established it will then become the duty of union men to assist the authorities in further investigations and in bringing to the bar of justice those who are guilty. By pursuing this course organized labor can, to a considerable extent, remove the charge of lawlessness and disrespect for constituted authority which has rested against it for several years.

THE PROGRESS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

"Deacon" Hemphill, editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, who is a South Carolinian and, therefore, fully cognizant of the superiority this State enjoys in comparison with the Carolina to the south, is moved to a few remarks about the greatness of the Old North State by certain figures which have been published in regard to agricultural production, industrial progress and business prosperity in this commonwealth; and then he proceeds to "ruminate," as the late Bill Arp used to say, as follows:

"North Carolina was originally a part of South Carolina. It has been spoken of by one of its most illustrious sons as 'a valley of humility lying between two mountains of conceit'—Virginia on the North and South Carolina on the South; but it has been pegging away at a most encouraging pace, and nearly everything that it has done in the way of industrial and commercial development has succeeded, because its people are as honest as the day is long, and every dollar that has been added to the wealth of the Old North State has been as good as any dollar in gold that was ever coined.

"We are delighted at times to touch our Tarheel friends 'on the raw,' just to see them jump; but there is no State in the South where the progress has been more substantial, where the people are more dependable, where the prospects are more encouraging than in this same great 'valley of humility.'"

The Danville Bee states that the Atlanta Journal is owned by Governor-elect Hoke Smith of Georgia. This is not a matter of much consequence, but it is just as well to keep the record straight. Hoke Smith sold the Atlanta Journal several years ago—something like ten years, as we remember it—and he is not even a stockholder in the Journal Company at present. Mr. Smith made the Journal a great newspaper, and the men to whom he sold it have maintained its prestige. Mr. Smith's connection with a newspaper of the Journal's prominence and power at the present day would be a matter of great interest to North Carolinians, but he has no connection of any kind with that paper. Naturally, he has a friendly interest in the paper which his genius and force of character saved from oblivion and which, since he sold it, has always been his warm admirer and generous supporter.

All those who are now trying to pick the winners in the general election will probably admit that there is little chance for Judge Eure to lose.

Greenville Piedmont wants to know if this paper can tell when a man is married. According to the old and oft repeated statement of the case a man is married when his troubles begin.

The lobster market is bearish, says a market quotation. Also, it is well known that some of the greatest bears in the world are likewise the biggest lobsters.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch announces plans for a modern steel and concrete newspaper building, to be erected in South Tenth street within the next six months. The site is in the heart of the city, and the building will be erected expressly for the purpose of housing the Times-Dispatch.

WHAT NORTH CAROLINA EDITORS ARE SAYING.

All Honor To Governor Brown.

Governor Brown, of Georgia has refused to pardon Thos. E. Stripling, former chief of police of Danville, Va., who was sentenced to life imprisonment for killing William J. Cornett, but escaped fourteen years ago. He asked for pardon alleging that he killed Cornett because he had ruined his sister. Governor Brown, in a review of the case, says when the unwritten law "is unmasked it shows the hideous features of anarchy." In this the governor is eminently correct. The law ought to be stringent in dealing with such cases. Murder is murder and the man who commits it should be punished. There is no justification for the "unwritten law," and under only one provocation is there any excuse for it, as we see it, and that is in defense of a man's life.

The plea that Stripling is ill and cannot stand confinement, and that the punishment will be meted to his family, does not figure in the matter. Cornett's family has suffered for fourteen years while Stripling has been able to care for his and now that he is in the hands of the law he ought to receive his punishment. Governor Brown has reasoned well in the case and set a fine example for the governors of other States.—Salisbury Post

POSTAL DEFICIT WIPED OUT.

Trick Done in Less Than Two Years According to Hitchcock.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—"A deficit in the operation of the Postoffice Department of $17,600,000, inherited by the present Administration of the postal service, practically has been wiped out," said Postmaster General Hitchcock today. He had just received from the auditor for the department a final report showing that the revenues for the first six months of the current fiscal year aggregated $118,573,817 and the expenditures $118,014,680.

"The wiping out in less than two years of the largest deficit in the history of the department," went on the Postmaster General, "was accomplished not by curtailing postal facilities, but by extending the service along profitable lines."

The auditor's report said that since the opening of the Administration 3089 new postoffices had been established, delivery by letter carriers provided in 142 additional cities and 2124 new rural routes, aggregating 51,230 miles in length, authorized, the force of postal employees increased by 8274 men and annual expenditures for salaries increased by $11,708,071.

CALENDARS FAIL TO AGREE THIS YEAR IN VIRGINIA.

Give Different Dates for Thanksgiving Day and Puzzle Many Wise Men.

Caleendars—which are sometimes given away by enterprising firms for advertising purposes—fail to agree this year on the date which President Taft will proclaim as the national Thanksgiving Day. The question was flung upon the air yesterday by the manager of the Richmond College football team, who wanted to know exactly when the University of Virginia and the University of North Carolina would meet at Broad Street park. He was referred to W. B. Bradley, who sometimes rents the grounds, and Mr. Bradley had to admit that he hadn't given the matter a thought, which meant that he didn't know. The manager asked some of the college professors, who sharply referred him to the calendar. "But," said the manager, "the calendars do not agree. Some of them carry the red mark around November 23 and others picture November 30. Which is right?"

"Look in the World's Almanac and find out," he was told, but that handbook of reliable information gave him to understand that Thanksgiving Day usually fell on the fourth Thursday in November. But even that was not specific, nor was it correct.

Then the manager found a reporter, and the reporter dug into records, which were authentic. These showed that since 1864 the last Thursday in November had always been celebrated by football players and turkey eaters, and that's the right dope. It happens that there are five Thursdays in the month this year; there will be five next year, a fact which calendar makers should keep in mind.

The big day, therefore, is November 30th.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Greenville Will Open the Season With the Team From Anderson.

The Carolina League of professional baseball clubs will begin its fourth annual season Thursday afternoon. Anderson will pry open the season in this city, Winston-Salem in Charlotte and Spartanburg in Greensboro. There will be no opening exercises here, the players simply getting down to work when the umpire sounds "play ball."

It is very probable that Cashion, the big Davidson college pitcher, will pitch the opening game for the local club. Cashion is in good form and great things are expected of him in the box this year.

Kite will probably do the bulk of the receiving this year. He is a good heady catcher. The release of Perry means that Polie Jenkins will play the initial sack. Polie should play this position well as he has a good reach. He has been showing up splendidly in the practice. Jimmie Sharp at second promises to be as fast as the fastest. Manager Smith himself will play third and it is believed will be the best in the circuit.

Blackstone and Ochs will play two of the outfielders and Doak, the other, provided he comes to terms. This will give a good fast line-up for the opening day.

All of the local fans are anxious for Thursday to roll around. It seems a mighty long time since the last season closed. A record-breaking attendance is expected.—Greenville Piedmont.

NOT LIVING HIGH.

Family of Five Can be Supported on $600 a Year, Says Expert.

Boston, April 25.—An adult male can decently support a family of five on $600 a year, or $12 a week, and if he cannot he is either ignorant or wasteful, declared Magnus Alexander, member of the Massachusetts Commission on Workingmen's Compensation, in an address last night.

Alexander said he found 10,000 employees of a certain large Massachusetts manufacturing company living comfortably on from $10.90 to $12.15 paid to the head of the house as an average weekly wage. Of this income from $3 to $5 went for rent, 85 cents for heat and light and from $4.25 to $5 for food.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Milady's Mirror

A Graceful Gait.
Practically every woman walks too rapidly for grace.

A tall woman for some reason walks more slowly than a short one. Her elbows, shoulders and hips move from side to side.

To be graceful don't look at your feet, but hold your head well up in the air. Don't shuffle. A little thoughtfulness and practice in high stepping will soon break you of this ugly habit. Don't bend your back at the waist under the impression that you are thereby walking erectly. It throws the stomach forward and is almost as inimical to grace as round shoulders.

Don't allow yourself to walk "pigeon toed"—that is, with the toes turned in or straight.

It is always hard to tell what to do with the hands. The natural way, to have them hanging at the sides or loosely clasped in front, is not beautiful. And to have them glued to the sides as far as the waist line and then bent in at the elbow is not only awkward in itself, but elevates the shoulders in the most unlovely way. Therefore most women try to obviate the difficulty by carrying something.

Sachets From Cut Flowers.
Girls who receive a number of bouquets during the winter may preserve the scent of the roses and violets by means of two ordinary fruit jars, one for each variety of bloom. While the flowers still are fresh cut off their stems, place the petals and stems in the jar and pour over them an equal quantity of cornmeal. Instead of packing the jar tightly leave almost a third of the space unoccupied, so that when the lid has been screwed on the contents of the receptacle may be shaken together. Then set the jar outside of a window or in some cool and convenient place, as every day it must be gently shaken and the top removed for just long enough for a very little fresh air to touch the contents. When the rose and violet leaves are perfectly brown the cornmeal will have absorbed their odor, and the entire mixture may be transferred to an ornamental potpourri jar or used for various sorts of sachets.

The Expressive Face.
The most expressive face is not one which writhes or agonizes with every sorrowful feeling or twists and squirms with every amusing situation. It is rather the one which retains a calm exterior while the strongest emotions of the soul play upon it with their lights and shadows.

The face should be the smooth curtain on which the heart exhibits its various pictures without disturbing it, not the stage which requires the shifting of scenery for every act. The reason why so many beautiful faces are to be found in a convent is, in a great measure, due to the daily habit of composing the features in long hours of meditation and prayer. Unmarred by contending emotions, the features are gradually molded into harmonious outlines. Train your features to composure and avoid all grating habits.

Help For Lispers.
Lisping is sometimes caused by the shape of the tongue, sometimes it is due to habitual self-consciousness when talking, and sometimes to ignorance in enunciation. In this case lessons from an elocution teacher will often overcome the trouble entirely. The pupil will learn for the first time in her life how to place her tongue when pronouncing certain letters and combinations of letters, and with constant practice the lisp will disappear. If the lisp is due to nervousness or self-consciousness, as stammering often is, instruction in elocution will help a great deal.

Soda For Bad Breath.
A fourth of a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda taken in half a glass of water before each meal will help to correct the kind of indigestion that gives a bad breath. The bicarbonate of soda granules, that you can obtain at any drugstore, are good for this purpose and are excellent for the teeth as they dissolve in the mouth. Charcoal tablets are also good and are taken after meals in the same way. Another splendid remedy is a tablespoonful of glycerin in a wineglass of hot water after each meal.

Massage Cream.
An inexpensive massage cream may be prepared of almond oil, six ounces; lanolin, one ounce; spermaceti, two ounces; white wax, one ounce; balsam of Peru, one dram. Scent as desired, using a few drops of attar of rose or any other perfume preferred. Melt spermaceti and wax, add oil, lanolin and balsam and beat till cold.

Cheap Sachets.
Bath sachets which are refreshing and beneficial for the skin when used in the bath or wash basin may be made as follows:

Take equal quantities of rosemary, orange peel, lemon peel, bay leaves, dried lavender and add a few cloves and a little cinnamon. Mix and tie up in small muslin bags.

CORPS OF ROGUES

French Foreign Legion a Unique Military Body.

CRIMINALS FILL ITS RANKS.

It Gathers Recruits From the Social Outcasts of All Grades of All Other Countries—Iron Discipline and Brutal Punishments.

The French Foreign Legion is unique. There is no other military organization like it on earth. It was first raised in 1831 for service in the then newly conquered colony of Algeria. The officers are French officers, of course, but the ranks are made up of outcasts of all social ranks of all other countries. It is understood that recruits are simply seeking refuge from the arm of the civil law. The corps has done excellent work against the Arabs and is always placed in the forefront of the fight.

The Foreign Legion exists but to march. To this one end its whole training is devoted. To fall out on the march is the one unpardonable sin in a legionnaire. The system of marches is brutal. No matter what the distance, it has to be completed in one stage. Forty miles, fifty, sixty—no matter—it is done straight off the reel, with, of course, brief halts for rest. But there is no general halt until the whole distance is completed. If a legionnaire faints on the march he is tied to a baggage cart which rolls on. He then either has to march or he is dragged along. "Seeing this done for the first time, I thought it brutal, but later I learned to understand the reason for it," said one who had served in its ranks.

The legionnaire who straggles in the desert is lost. Hundreds of men have died a dreadful death in this way. The Arab women pounce upon them, lying helpless in the sand, and, with shrieks of fiendish delight, proceed to torture and mutilate them before killing them outright.

A legionnaire's pay is only a half-penny a day. True, wine in Algeria costs only a penny a quart, and tobacco three pence to fourpence a pound. But—a halfpenny a day!

His rations, too, are of the scantiest. Two meals a day only are served—breakfast at 10 o'clock in the morning and supper at 4 in the afternoon. Each meal is exactly alike, consisting of a thick soup made up of meat and vegetables, with bread, and every other day a small quantity of wine.

The discipline is ruthless in its severity; the punishments are cruel in the extreme. For grave offenses, like desertion, insubordination or striking a superior officer, death is frequently inflicted, or, failing that, the offender is sent to serve in the penal battalion on the edge of the Sahara desert. This nearly always means a slow and painful death in place of a quick and comparatively painless one.

Minor offenses are punished with from twenty to a hundred days in prison or with "cellule," which is solitary confinement in the dark plus starvation. I have seen strong, robust men so reduced after doing thirty days cellule that they have hardly been able to stand, yet they had to resume their ordinary duties nevertheless.

Not long since two other dreadful forms of punishment were in vogue—the "silo" and the "crapaudine." The silo was just a deep hole in the ground shaped like a funnel, into which the victim was cast. He was given no blanket or other protection from the weather.

The sun beat upon him by day; the cold night mists penetrated to the marrow of his bones. He could not lie down, for the bottom of the silo sloped to a point. He just crouched, a huddled heap, until not infrequently death mercifully relieved him from his sufferings.

The crapaudine consisted in trussing a man as a frog in a trunk, his hands and feet being tied together on his back in such a manner that they formed a sort of semicircle.

This resulted in such frightful cramps that the pain sometimes drove men mad. Both the silo and the crapaudine, however, have now been abolished. But in the field and on the march an offender is still punished by being "spreadeagled" and bound to four stakes driven into the ground.

To escape from these tortures men mutilate themselves, usually by cutting off one or more fingers, or they will purposely make themselves ill. One favorite trick is to take a drink from the sewers under the Arab prison. This loathsome draft almost invariably brings on an attack of typhoid of a peculiarly malignant type.

Others, more enterprising, try to desert, but they rarely succeed. Most of them meet with dreadful deaths at the hands of the wild Arabs of the desert. The only class of recruits who are treated with special favor are those who have previously been officers in some other army. These are usually made corporals on enlistment and afterward sergeants. But even under the most favorable conditions life in the legion is the life of a dog.

In Its Due Order.
Dr. Thirdly was dividing up his sermon into its appropriate heads one Sunday morning, when a member of the congregation shouted frantically: "Meat, man! Give us meat!" "Well," said Dr. Thirdly promptly, "hold on, then, till I'm done carving." —New York Tribune.

DEMOCRACY TRIUMPHED SAYS MADERO

Special to Telegram.

El Paso, Texas, April 25.—After explaining the causes leading up to the revolution in a statement made tonight Madero said "Should the end of the revolution come by negotiations or by a decisive battle the result would be the same—an absolute triumph of Democracy in Mexico and the establishment of popular government, which will fully satisfy all national aspirations."

Judge Boyd Convened Court in Salisbury

Salisbury, N. C., April 25.—The first term of the new Federal court for Salisbury convened in the Federal building in Salisbury today with Judge James E. Boyd, of Greensboro, presiding. The court was authorized by an act of Congress a year ago and the court could not be held until the postoffice building was completed. Under the direction of the Salisbury Bar Association, with President L. H. Clement presiding, a pleasing event took place today when Judge Boyd was given a cordial welcome to Salisbury and to the new Federal building which has just been completed. The address of welcome was made by Hon. Theo. F. Klutz, one of Salisbury's distinguished lawyers. There were also a number of short speeches from other lawyers. Judge Boyd responded in a most pleasing manner.

With a capital of $400,000 the W. J. Oliver Company was organized in Salisbury Saturday night. The officers elected are president, W. J. Oliver, Knoxville, Tenn.; secretary, John M. Beall, St. Louis; and treasurer, T. J. Jermoe, Salisbury, N. C. The new company recently purchased the Salisbury-Spencer Street Railway and electric lighting system, and will also build and operate an interurban electric line to Concord and other cities.

Suffering from a lick from a baseball bat while at the Salisbury fair grounds a week ago, Frank Beurlbaum, son of Theodore Beurlbaum, a well-known business man in Salisbury, has been in a precarious condition for several days. At first but little attention was given the lick but later it developed that there was a concussion of the brain. Grave fears are entertained for young Beurlbaum.

A party of Salisburyans, including W. F. Snider, M. L. Jackson and others, returned yesterday from Concord where an electric street railway system was placed in operation. The cars are operated by the storage battery system and there is no overhead wires. This was the first street car for Concord and it is expected that the line will soon be extended to Salisbury.

For Department of Public Safety—Edward A. Brown, 704 votes; C. W. Curry, 147 votes; John R. Cutchin, 393 votes; John W. Merritt, 189 votes.

For Department of Public Works—J. Ed Albright, 192 votes; J. G. Foushee, Jr., 797 votes; W. T. Sergeant, 446 votes.

For Judge of the Municipal Court—Nathaniel L. Eure, 1032 votes. April 25th, 1911.

DIAZ SUBJECT OF CRITICISM BY MEXICANS

Special to Telegram.

Mexico City, April 25.—Nothing shows the remarkable change wrought by the revolution so much as the character of the debates on the anti-election bill now up in Congress. Never during the whole Diaz regime have deputies dared heretofore to openly criticize the president, but now they are bold to the extreme. Deputy Bulnes, representing lower California, said today during the debate that no such thing as Latin Democracy exists.

TECUMSEH'S MISSING BUST.

The Reason It Was Taken From Its Niche in the Capitol.

"Where is the bust of Tecumseh that used to be in a niche on the senate side of the capitol?" Richard Livingston, a student of American history, asked recently.

"I know that years ago there was a fine bronze bust of an Indian, and the name Tecumseh was on the pedestal, and as Tecumseh was about the most famous Indian chief of our school history books ever, American boys took more interest in surveying his features than in looking over the faces of eminent white men in the big building. I walked all over the building and saw Indians enough in paintings and statuary, also some live ones, but no Tecumseh. Then I hunted up my congressman, and he went through a guidebook—no use. Then we questioned the guides. They had not heard of a Tecumseh bust, and most of them asked, 'What state was the senator from?'"

"I was about to give it up. Then a somber sort of chap with a silk hat and a red flower in his buttonhole relieved my anxiety. He explained what I had not thought of before, and that was the fact that Tecumseh was killed in battle wearing the uniform of a British general. He died fighting the American flag. Why should he be honored with a bust in the capitol?"

"And then I was told that the Tecumseh bust really had been in the capitol for many years until one day a wise senator, familiar with the history of his country, made a protest. That sent the Tecumseh bust to the cellar or to some museum here in town."—Washington Post.

The Bull of Phalaris.

Perillus of Athens is said by the ancient authorities to have invented for Phalaris, tyrant of Agriguntum, B. C. 570, a brazen bull which opened on the side to admit victims who were to be roasted to death by the fire which was built underneath. The dying groans of the sufferers closely resembled the "roaring of a maddened bull;" hence the name that was given to the invention. It is refreshing to know that later on the populace rose against Phalaris and burned the tyrant in the bull that he had made to be the cause of death to so many others.—New York American.

A Roundabout River.

The Kentucky river at Jackson is a freak. It runs for five miles or more to advance sixty feet. The circuit of the water forms what is known as the "penhandle." Standing on the back-bone you can dip a stone into the river on the north side and one into the river on the south side, five miles below. You are on the north side of the river and on the south side of the river and going up the river and down the river at the same time.—Winchester News.

WORKING WITH GOLD.

Factories in Which Dark Colored Clothes Must Be Worn.

Light suits of clothes are not favored in factories where work is done on gold. In fact, in many such factories a dark suit of clothes is absolutely required, and even a light waistcoat may lose a man a job. The reason for this is that any stray grains of gold that may get on the clothing can easily be caught on a dark suit, while they might get away from the establishment if light clothes were worn.

That such a rule was enforced among gold workers one man learned recently when a Bohemian gold beater applied to him for a helping hand. The Bohemian said that he had only recently come to this country, that he had had a chance to obtain a good job at his trade, but that the place had been refused him because he turned up with a light coat and waistcoat, and they were the only clothes he had.

The man whom he approached was struck by the story and offered to help him out if it proved true. He went to a downtown factory with him and found out that the man could have the job if he presented himself within an hour with the proper clothes on. Two dollars enabled the man to rig himself out in the dark coat and waistcoat to go with his dark trousers, and, sure enough, he got the job.

"You may think this strange," said the man at the factory, "but it means quite a little to us. Every man's clothing is carefully examined when he leaves here at night and the gold brushed off whenever we see any on his clothing."

"It is impossible to hide even tiny grains on a dark background, but take a mixed or a light suit and we might easily lose quite an amount of gold, and gold isn't anything you want to lose even in small quantities."—New York Sun.

REFUSED TO OBEY.

Major Butler Carried His Obstinacy Right Into His Coffin.

Many amusing stories are told of the great formality blended with a humorous brusqueness and independence which characterized early Revolutionary days. An incident of camp life is related by the author of "Romance and Realism of the Southern Gulf Coast."

In 1708 the first United States troops that came down the Mississippi were quartered at Fort Adams. General Wilkinson, Colonel Hamtramck, Major Butler, Captain Green and other officers were merry over their punch one night, and the general by some accident got his cue burned off. Angry at the laugh which followed his mishap, he next day issued an order forbidding any officer to appear with a cue. Obedient to orders, all the officers but Major Butler cut off their cues.

"The vain old prig," said the major, "I'll see him hanged before I cut off my cue to gratify him." And he boldly appeared without changing the style of his hairdressing.

The major was put under arrest, but he declared obstinately that he would spend the rest of his life in prison before he would comply with such a silly command. Soon afterward he was taken very ill, and, realizing that he was at the point of death, he gave instructions for his burial, which he knew would be witnessed by the whole command.

"Bore a hole," said he, "through the bottom of my coffin, right under my head, and let my cue come through it, that the old general may see that even when dead I refuse to obey his order." And these directions were literally carried out.

Where Waltzing Is Barred.

German court regulations forbid waltzing. This veto dates back to 1859, when the Empress Frederick, then crown princess, was tripped up by her partner in a waltz and fell at the feet of her mother-in-law. The Empress Augusta, a despot on the score of etiquette, forbade the inclusion of waltzes thenceforth in all balls at the New palace. So far the Kaiser has resisted the pressure brought to bear on him to revive the waltz. Dancing at the Berlin court always opens with a polka, naise, and the rest of the program is filled with quadrilles and polkas, the schottishes and the mazurkas.

Truth a Trouble Maker.

A West Philadelphia man and his wife have separated. None of their friends know why, but one, being curious, asked the husband:

"What was the trouble between you and your wife?"

"Oh, nothing much. She bought a new hat for $20 and asked me what I thought of it, and I told her; that's all."—Philadelphia Times.

Enterprise.

"What would you do if I should shoot myself?" demanded the ardent suitor.

"I'd sign up in vaudeville immediately," replied the actress. "I wouldn't have time to get a play written. These shooting sensations soon fizzle out."—Kansas City Journal.

In Later Life.

"I see you are doing a good many things now that once you would have been shocked at."

"Well, I make up for it by being shocked at a good many things that I once did."—Pittsburg Post.

Two Sides to It.

"She refused you."
"Yes. It certainly puzzles me."
"Oh, well, if she had accepted you the whole world would have been puzzled."—Houston Post.

Self Clearing Tea Table.
How would you like to have a tea table that "clears away" itself? The one shown in the illustration has been presented to Sir John Knill, ex-lord mayor of London, by the city corporation.

tion. It was designed according to special order. By an ingenious device the tea things can be made to disappear almost magically, and the table resumes a normal appearance. For tired or indolent housewives or maid-servants this table is recommended as a labor saver.

Women and Society

The Home Builders.

Banners are swung for the builders of thrones. Battles are fought in a thousand zones. For those who are building the cities of State—

Mine is a banner to set by the gate. Of women, the builders of home, who rear

A statelier palace than king or peer. Hath raised forever in east or west—The women who build us the homes of rest!

Mine is a banner for them, for them. The woman whose smiles is a diadem!

The criers go forth with the praise of the fair. Who are lifting the trumpets of brag and blare

For mighty achievements in science and art—

Mine is a trumpet to sing of a heart That beats in the breast of a woman who strives

To build us the home where we're living our lives

And rearing our children and winning our place—

The women who build us the homes of the race!

Mine is a trumpet to sound their praise.

The women who build us the dreams and days!

The couriers beat at the gates of the town

To tell of the triumphs men bring down

From temples and steeples and stage and den—

Mine is a trumpet to tell again

Of women, the builders of homes, that we May go from their arms to the victory. May come in the twilight and find her there

With lips of loving to heal our care. Mine is a story of triumph, too.

In hearts of women, the tried and true!

Brave be the banners that tell of thrones,

Brave be the trumpets that through the zones

Ring the praises of men who fight

In the common war of the human right—

Mine be the banner, the trumpet, the praise.

For women, the builders of golden ways

Through life's dark forest, where men sit down

To dream and to rest from the storms of town.

Mine be the message to help them on. The women that build us the homes of dawn!—Baltimore Sun.

MAN'S RIGHTS

(By JOHN WATSON WHYTE.)

In all the stress and straining after woman's rights—her privileges being already too numerous to mention—those of man seem at times to be lost sight of, if not completely lost. Every now and then we read in the papers that a young woman has picked her husband's pockets while he slept, that the judge not only acquits but commends her, at the same time administering a scathing rebuke to the husband. Poor man! If he would but understand his position once and for all, how much annoyance he would be spared!

Clearly, it is man's duty to provide woman with all the luxuries of the day, to give her the entire contents of his purse and the full extent of his credit. These failing, as they sometimes do, it is for him to provide income from another source.

For what use is man unless he be a provider? For what other purpose should he have the unquestioned right of leaving the house at 8 o'clock in the morning not to return until 6 at night? From woman's point of view, man's life is a round of pleasure with a little work thrown in.

If, by chance, he is a salaried man, then the often unpleasant task of working for others is fully offset by the lack of responsibility; but, on the other hand, if he is at the head of affairs, then all his cares and anxieties more than balanced by the fact that he is his own master. And there is always the pleasure of the chase.

If man were not so utterly stupid, if it were possible for him to meet woman on her own ground, armed with a weapon as potent as her tears, there might seem to be some chance for him. But as it is, why will he continually put himself in the wrong? Why try to evade his duty with that old, old query, "What did you do with the last check for $50 I gave you?"

Why trouble about the matter at all? Why should he not give her $100 if she so desired, poor little dear. Had he the least reason to suppose that it had not been spent wisely and well, there were no need for the question. Since it is a reproach, woman resents it as such, promptly goes off into an attack of hysteria and weeps, and man beats a retreat, feeling himself to be all the more of a brute in that she has been canny enough to refrain from calling him one. And woman scores again.

Oh, man! Hasten the day when woman shall have her rights, for then possibly, possibly, she may be willing to accord you a few, a very few, of her privileges.

The Highest Type of Woman

(By ALVA ARMSTRONG.)

In the good old days, before women were "emancipated," they were content to stay at home and minister to the needs of their husbands, their children and their households.

Matinees, summer sales, afternoon teas, and bawling and going about the streets at suffragette meetings were things unknown. Our grandmothers were not always racking their brains for some fresh diversion, some new way of killing time. They lived simple, healthy, frugal lives, and in spite of the swooning they are supposed, according to the novels of the time, to have indulged in, had more tranquil nervous systems, and were not the neurotic creatures they are today.

The woman of the twentieth century is constantly craving for some new excitement. If she be of the lower middle class, she passes her days and nights in overheated, suffocating stores, frenziedly struggling for articles she does not want; if she is of the upper middle class, she disports herself at some bridge party or half kills herself rushing about trying to discover new amusements. To sit at home is the only thing she detests.

This is unfortunate, because man (a far more conservative animal than woman, by the way) likes nothing better than to sit by his own fireside, with his feet on his own fender, smoking the pipe of peace.

While his fiancée pictures matrimony as a whirl of calls and parties, he dreams of a quiet haven sheltered from every wind which blows, a place where, once the turmoil of the world shut out, he can rest and refresh himself for the recurring struggle.

If a woman really wishes to make her married life happy, she must give up all thoughts of her own pleasures, she must abandon the idea that rushing to and fro is the one thing desirable. She must settle down—never mind if it sounds dull—and determine to make a home for her husband.

Never mind about the carpets or the curtains; she must make it a place where worries are kissed away and cares forgotten, a place where cross words and angry looks never come, a peaceful place where he may gather strength for the struggle always going on—the struggle of life.

The Auto Not To Blame This Time.

Some time ago the doctors and others asked the town council to make war on the flies, as it is asserted that they spread all manner of diseases.

Until today we have seen nothing suggested that would minimize the quantity of flies in town, though it is evident that every horse and cow stable unless properly kept cleaned and disinfected with quantities of lime, is a breeding place of flies of the worst sort. The writer found this out long ago, when some of his neighbors bought horses and kept them not far from their homes, and ours, as flies at once became so numerous that it was impossible to live in the house without keeping screens constantly and tightly closed.

No such charge can possibly be made against the automobile, whatever its many sins may be, a goodly number of the doctors make their calls in one of these gasoline buggies and are helping the cause perhaps without having this object in view. In some cities stables are not permitted on certain streets and am sure the time will come when we will have cleaner streets and horses will not be permitted on our streets.

The age of the horseless carriage has arrived and we believe it has come to stay. Sometime ago we noticed in all European cities that the pedestrian before crossing a street is expected to look and see that no vehicles are coming, here everybody that wants to cross a street feels he has a perfect right to step in front of any moving vehicle regardless of consequences and blames driver or chauffeur for any mishaps, it seems to us a little more care from both sides could avert a great many accidents.

Parisian Benevolence.
Paris sends its children to school and supplies the poor ones with clothing, shoes and food as well as with free books, slates, stationery and instruments, and it arranges that no child shall know which of the others are charity pupils. It sends poor children on summer outings. It builds houses and rents them at low rates, giving preference to the poorest and largest families. It taxes every theater ticket 10 per cent for a public fund, which furnishes every year 15,000 free beds in hospitals and as many more in asylums. This fund has also built a maternity hospital, where no questions are asked. It helps to bring up thousands of poor children. It furnishes free medicines for the sick poor. It collects a per diem from the employer for a workman who receives injury in the discharge of his duties. It spends $10,000,000 yearly in benevolence.—Argonaut.

Wide Reaching Wireless.
The Chilean government is putting up a wireless tower on Juan Fernandez island, 300 miles distant, and soon the lonely place where Alexander Selkirk was wrecked and where Robinson Crusoe found the tracks in the sand for Defoe's millions of eager readers will get the latest news in thirty seconds from the centers of civilization. The British postmaster general is linking up the isolated islands on the west coast of Scotland with the mainland by wireless for a daily air letter service. Germany and England are considering a plan to talk across the Sahara desert in Africa by means of a chain of wireless poles on the oases.—New York Press.

One Day of Six Ones.
For the first time since January, 1811, people have been able to write a full date with the figure one, namely, "11-11-11." But in the penultimate month of the current year six ones may be used—"11-11-11."

Avoid Danger

When you are sick, or suffering from any of the troubles peculiar to women, don't delay—take Cardui, that well-known and successful remedy for women. Thousands of women have used Cardui and been benefited. Why not you? Don't take any chances. Get Cardui, the old, reliable, oft-tried remedy, for women of all ages.

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

Mrs. Luzania Morgan, Sneedville, Tenn., writes: "For ten years I suffered with the turn of life, and tried many remedies without relief. I had pains all over my body and at times I could not sit up. At last I took Cardui and now I can do my housework. I have told many ladies about Cardui and recommend it to all sick women." Try it.

THE KITCHEN

Orange Wine.
Dissolve 15 pounds of loaf sugar in four gallons of water over a gentle heat. Add the whites and broken shells of three eggs. Bring to the boil, and then reduce the heat so that the syrup only just simmers.

Withdraw entirely after 20 minutes and leave until nearly cold. Strain carefully through a muslin bag and pour into a large pan. Squeeze and strain the juice from 50 large, sound Seville oranges. Stir it into the syrup and add three tablespoonfuls of brewer's yeast.

Cover over with a cloth and leave for at least 24 hours. Pour into an absolutely dry cask and leave loosely bunged until fermentation ceases.

Then tighten up and leave for three months. At the end of this time prepare another cask, draw the wine off into it, and add, if liked, about a pint of brandy. Fasten down and at the end of 12 months bottle for use.

Curried Lamb or Poultry.
Slice two onions and one apple and fry in butter until done. Then add two cupfuls of good stock. Mix two tablespoonfuls of curry powder with milk to a thick paste and work into pan.

Pour hot water over one large tomato, strain, skin, mash, and add to the above, which must all gently simmer for half an hour. Then put in three-fourths of a pound of medium chopped meat or poultry, which must be free of skin and fat, and cook for another half hour. Place boiled rice around the dish and curry in the center.

Ginger Sandwiches.
Put one pound of preserved ginger through a meat chopper, add the strained juice of a large orange and rub to a paste with some whipped cream. Spread this mixture between slices of thinly buttered bread; cut into squares, rounds or fingers. These are nice to serve with tea or chocolate.

Rhyme and Reason

(By FRANK L. STANTON.)
Springtime in Winter.

The meadow dreams of violets, a bird is on the wing.
And the sunlight's streaming, dreaming where the honeysuckles swing.
The vines are looking brighter on the old porch there at home,
And seems the bees are browsing, and making honeycomb.

"Springtime in winter"—
To that tune it goes.
"Seek the sweetest garden,
And give your love a rose!"

No frost flakes in the furrows, the turf is warm and sweet.
Listen—only listen, and you'll hear the world's heart beat!

With soft, caressing fingers in winter's locks of gray,
The spring has coaxed him to a smile and kissed his gloom away.

"Springtime in winter"—
To that tune it goes.
"Seek the sweetest garden,
And give your love a rose!"

Springtime—the Milliner.
The happy days of life are here,
And hallicujahs in the air—
Spring wonders now what dress you'll wear.

For some are trimmed with violets blue,
And some with roses dripping dew,
And all are captivating you!

And you might search the country o'er,

And never find—from hill to shore—
So fine a millinery store!

Quick Justice.

"He ran away with two hams and a side of meat, your honor," said the sheriff.

"Two years," said the judge. "Down with the millionaires!"

CODY MAY BE A SENATOR.

On His Last Tour Buffalo Bill Talks of Arizona Politics.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 25.—"A double-action hair-trigger Senator, that's what I'll be if the people of Arizona elect me to the United States Senate," declared Colonel William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," on his arrival here when asked what he thought of the prospects of entering the political field upon his retirement from the arena in which he has been a central figure for years. He is not optimistic over the prospect of going to Washington to represent the baby State, but declared he'll act when the time comes, if he does go. The Colonel's experience with legislative bodies is that they do a lot of talking but act little, and that is not in accordance with his life's policy.

"I think there are a lot of men out there in Arizona who are better fixed for the place than I, and more deserving of the honor, but if they want me, I'll not refuse. I'm interested in the State, if only as a part of the West, which I have always been interested in building up, and I'll always do my best to protect and preserve its interests. I'm a Republican politically, but I have friends on both sides."

The fact of the matter is Colonel Cody is largely interested financially in Arizona, owning outright in some cases and in others being largely interested in gold, silver and lead mines. He furnished the capital for and built one of the first irrigation canals of the West, in Big Horn Basin; owns 4800 acres of land at North Platte, Nebraska, and six ranches in Wyoming. And the Colonel is the grandfather of four.

Notwithstanding his age, and the Colonel is some advanced, he is extremely well preserved. He is the most picturesque character representing American frontier life who remains of the group of famous Indian fighters of years ago and the hero of every boy's imagination. From a bold scout who served in the days of border warfare in the taming of the redskin, for which he received the recognition of Congress, he developed into an actor, appearing for the first time in this city as a "star" with Mrs. John Drew at the old Arch Street Theater, and since that time has appeared before hundreds of thousands of admirers in this country and Europe.

Business Head.

"She is very practical minded."
"Is she?"
"Yes. John told her he was desperately in love with her and asked her to marry him."

"What did she say?"
"Said he would have to insure his love at Lloyd's before she could consider his proposal."

Natural Curiosity.

"Deah boy?"
"Yes, Percy?"
"Costs an awful lot to live, doesn't it?"
"Think so?"
"Beastly lot."
"Then why live?"

Too Glaring.

"I'm talking to a copper."
He told an awful whopper.
The copper murmured, "It's a cinch That wouldn't do you at a pinch."

Those Knowing Neighbors.

"Mrs. Brown seems to have many men callers."
"Naturally."
"Why naturally?"
"They bought all their things on the installment plan."

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp. It cures dandruff and leaves it in a perfect healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in Maryland, Black, Bette, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of his growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair in six weeks. In six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. BALDHEADS AND WHISKERS SUBJECT OF JOINT DEBATE BY CONGRESSMEN AND SENATORS

Washington, April 25.—A joint debate is to be held in the assembly room of the National Press Club on the evening of May 2. Senator John W. Kern of Indiana, former Speaker Cannon of Illinois, Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, and Representative Ollie M. James of Kentucky, one of the Democratic leaders of the House are to be at the participants.

President Taft has displayed the keenest interest in the meeting, and Speaker Champ Clark is to be present in an advisory capacity. The debate, however, is to be non-partisan.

The question at issue is of world-wide importance. This is it:

Resolved: That whiskers are a greater detriment to a man than a bald head.

The affirmative has been placed in the hands of Messrs. James and Longworth, who long ago lost interest in the price of a haircut. The negative will be warmly upheld by Messrs. Kern and Cannon. The former wears a beard of the type of Justice Charles E. Hughes, while the latter has a Lincoln-like hirsute adornment.

STOLYPIN'S TUNNEL

Victory in Russian Crisis will Improve Conditions in That Country.

Special to Telegram.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—The complete triumph of Prime Minister Stolypin in the recent crisis causes very general satisfaction in conservative quarters both Russian and foreign. The attempt to destroy M. Stolypin was uncovering graft in high places and the inauguration of administration reforms which will at least mitigate if not abolish the graft system which honeycombs Russia.

The fact that Stolypin's victory is due to the direct intervention of the Czar is taken as an assurance that His Majesty will back the Prime Minister in carrying out the reforms which he deems necessary. It is understood that M. Stolypin laid before the Czar the full results of his investigations and that His Majesty was amazed and horrified at the corruption shown to exist in practically every branch of the government implicating some of the highest placed men in the country.

It is not likely that there will be any public exposure. It might stir up a dangerous feeling but many a high official will be quietly dropped. It is said that it is the purpose of the Prime Minister to get rid of grafting officials from the highest to the lowest as rapidly as it can be done without disarranging the government machinery too much.

SWISS WOMEN WEAR GARMENTS RESEMBLING MEN'S

Special to Telegram.

Geneva, April 25.—In the Swiss Canton Valais there is a village named Champery, and here, women have for generations worn the jupe-culotte, quietly, unostentatiously, unconscious that there is anything at all remarkable in their attire. So while the Western world amuses itself with renewed discussions about the proper attire for women, these village maidens and elderly dames go about their day's work dressed in the debatable garment. Extremely picturesque they look in their culottes, which are cut exactly the same as those worn by the fathers, husbands, and brothers. They are made of a rough blue serge, that stands the wear and tear of hard life. For a hard life those women do live amongst the mountains, in a village perched on a green slope, where the industry is pasturage. Many a girl starts out before daybreak, and does not return to the village until nightfall. There are frequent wet days; much snow and storms rend the valley. The close-fitting costume is well adapted for the wearer's needs.

Special to Telegram.

Kandersteg, Switzerland, April 25.—The colossal task of piercing the Bernese Alps between the Kander Valley on the north and the Roman Valley on the south has just been completed.

The new tunnel, known as the Lo-schberg tunnel, is about nine and a half miles long, entering the mountains at Kandersteg and emerging at Goppenstein, near Gampel on the Rhone.

The completion of the tunnel will greatly shorten the journey between Berne and thus Balse, Paris and Calais, and Brigue and the Simplon tunnel leading to Italy. The present railway between Berne and Brigue is forced by the towering Bernese Alps to make a long detour by the Rhodé Valley and Montreux. The tunnel has been under construction for five years, and has cost $10,000,000.

The last dividing wall between the two borings, which was about 3 feet thick, was pierced at 2 a. m. The hole was not detected until the wreckage had been removed. It was first seen by a miner from the south side, who set a drill through the hole and then realized the fact and stopped the boring. There was then repeated and prolonged cheering through the entire tunnel. Flowers were put through the hole for the engineer, Herr Rotpletz, to whose great energy was due the fact that the tunnel was pierced in so short a period.

LOVER'S QUARREL ABOUT KISSES RESULTS IN DEATH

Special to Telegram.

Budapest, April 25.—A quarrel about the price of a kiss led to the loss of two lives near Esseg, in Slavonia.

Two young people, George Michelitsch and Marie Hippitch, who had just become engaged, were walking in the evening on the bank of the Drau river when Michelitsch was heard to ask the girl for kisses on account of their impending marriage. She gave them, but in return said it was only fair if she also got an advance of the housekeeping money for furnishing. He agreed, but when she said she wanted half a crown for each kiss he became furious.

Hot words and boxes on the ear followed, but the passerby only laughed at the lovers' quarrel until they saw the man push the girl into the river. As she fell she caught hold of his coat and dragged him in after her.

The swift current carried them away, and both were drowned before their bodies could be recovered.

Here Is Champion Eater.

Rockland, Mass., April 25.—With a record of eating 60 boiled eggs and 100 oysters at one sitting and thirteen lobsters at another, Thomas F. Curly has issued a challenge to eat against any man in the world.

Leave Cape Town for Bulawayo each Sunday, Tuesday, and Friday. All these trains connect with Salisbury, the capital of Southern Rhodesia, and the Tuesday and Friday trains also connect with the Congo Free State. It is 2321 miles from Cape Town to Elizabethville in the Free State. The passenger traffic on the Rhodesian railways is rapidly growing a noticeable feature being the increase in the number of tourists from Europe and America who now visit the Victoria Falls. The Falls can be reached within twenty-one days of leaving London.

AMERICANS ARE ATTENDING TRIALS OF CAMORRISTS

Special to Telegram.

Rome, April 25.—Many Americans have attended the Camorra trials at Viterbo and it is said two New York detectives, one an Italian and an American have kept close watch on all the suspicious looking men in or near the court house.

The hope is entertained that some light will be thrown on the assassination of Police Lieutenant Joseph Petrosio of the New York detectives which occurred in Palermo a few years ago. His murder is attributed to the Camorra which in turn has been called the Mafia, the Camorra, the Black Hand and the Italian Vemgerichte. The name "Black Hand" was purely an invention, there being no such organization in Italy.

The Camorra, which is now so prominently in the public eye, had its origin 120 years ago in the filthy dungeons of Old Naples, where it originated as a blackmailing association amongst the prisoners themselves. Thence it spread outside, until its very name became a by-word and terror to law-abiding folks. All had to subscribe to its funds, or suffer death!

Mostly the victims were poor people, whose taking off attracted but little attention. A cabman refused to hand over a percentage of his takings as a small shopkeeper declined to be blackmailed. Each was found stabbed to death, and on each body was a tell-tale mark, two knife slashes in the form of a cross, as a sign that the murder was the work of the Camorra, and not the outcome of mere private vengeance. Or the victim's face would be branded with a capital "S," showing that the dead man had himself been a Camorrist who had incurred the vengeance of his associates by giving information to the police.

Occasionally, too, Camorrists flew at high game. Thus Miscali, the "Glad-stone" of Italy, was assassinated for daring to attack them; and Italy's foremost journalist, Signor Notorbartolo, was murdered for exposing the Camorra.

It is fifty years since the Crown was offered by the first Italian Parliament to Victor Emmanuel, King of Sardinia, and accepted by him. The jubilee of the anniversary was celebrated throughout the Peninsula by ceremonies. The most conspicuous was the opening of two international exhibitions that of Art in Rome, and that of Industry in Turin; while a third, an exhibition of Italian portraits has been organized in Florence.

Turin will demonstrate to visitors the extraordinary progress in industry which has been made during these fifty years in Italy. Socialist agitation and Anarchist activity are dangers which vary in magnitude from time to time; but they are always there, and, with the development of manufactures and labor-saving machinery and the continuance of low wages, they are not likely to disappear. That is one of the main difficulties of government in the state of civilization in the South, resulting in the preference given to the Camorra system as against regular government.

THE NEWS OF HIGH POINT

High Point, April 25.—Dr. W. C. Tyree, of Oxford, has been called to the pastorate of the First Baptist church in this city. It is probable that he will accept the call. Dr. Tyree served the First Baptist church at Durham for ten years and the First church at Raleigh for twelve years. He is one of the ablest men of this denomination in the State, and his removal to High Point will greatly strengthen the ranks of Baptist ministry in Guilford county.

Superintendent of Schools Elected.

Thornwell Haynes, of Central, South Carolina, was elected superintendent of the High Point Schools at a meeting of the school board Saturday. There were numerous applications before the board and among so many good men it was quite a laborious task for the board.

Thornwell Haynes is a native of South Carolina. He took his A. B. degree at Wofford College, and A. M. at Vanderbilt University. Has had seven years experience as a superintendent of schools, and has spent nine years abroad. Mr. Haynes is of prepossessing personal appearance, and has the judgment, tact and scholarship essential to the successful management of a system of schools.

Mr. Haynes will arrange to take up his residence in High Point soon after June 1st.

J. B. Rector, who leaves the Elwood hotel May 1st, has gone into business with his brother-in-law, J. H. Lange, and will have charge of the Glen Rock hotel at Asheville.

ALBANIAN REVOLT ATTRACTS INTEREST

Special to Telegram.

Vienna, April 25.—While Richard Pasha, the Ottoman Ambassador at Vienna claims that the Albanian revolt is merely a matter of local interest and of no great importance, he observes that the Albanians, who for centuries have paid no taxes, and have been exempted from military service, have to become accustomed to the young Turkish regime. He added that the Turkish troops will soon put an end to the rising.

But the confidence of the Ambassador is not born out by the latest news reaching here, according to which the rebellion is continually spreading in Northern Albania. Soutari is seriously threatened.

NEWS OF SPORTS14 INNING TIE GAME PLAYED BY DAVID-
SON AND WAKE FOREST

Davidson, N. C., April 25.—Davidson and Wake Forest battled for fourteen innings today, until the game was called on account of darkness. The score was nine and nine. It was one of the most exciting contests ever seen here.

The batteries were: For Davidson—Bailey, Cashion and Mattison. For Wake Forest—Underwood, Smith and Turner.

Will Parade Streets With Band.

Charlotte, April 25.—The league season will open in Charlotte Thursday afternoon in proper style. Officials of the club have made arrangements to secure one of the brass bands of the city and to have it parade the streets during the day in the large motor truck of the Texas Oil Company with banners announcing the purpose of the demonstration. The ball players of both the Charlotte and Winston clubs will be paraded through the streets in automobiles and later carried to the scene of conflict for the afternoon's drama. The prospects are that the attendance will measure up to the usual high records of the past for the early series.

Manager of the Twins Arrives to Remain With Boys.

Manager Clancy is with his own, and we are glad of it. The Twins have narrowed down to 14 men, any of whom look good enough for the circuit, and things begin to look like business. It is no longer a process of finding good ones, it is now a question of which we can spare. The men brought here by Clancy are tried veterans whom he has seen at work and knows thoroughly, the new ones look like nice fellows, who have seen quite a bit of baseball. The practice yesterday was good, in spite of the poor condition of the grounds.

Clancy's coming means work for the bunch and they don't seem to mind doing it. They've got ginger, and best of all they know how. The hitting is improving, and we warn the fences of the parks of the circuit. It's a ground-covering bunch, that infield of the Twins. The work of Jack Clancy at short and of Schumaker at first is going to be a treat for the fans of the Carolinas—though we doubt some of them being able to appreciate it. If the grounds were in good trim we'd be ready for the season now, and we will be when it comes any way.—Journal.

WHITSETT BOYS
MADE TWINS SIT UP AND TAKE NOTICE

Special to Telegram.

Winston-Salem, April 25.—Coach Clancy fresh from his North Carolina-Virginia triumph led his Twin Leaguers up against Whitsett Institute here today in the fine new park. The Twins were smiling in confident security at the nerve of the school boys, and Whitsett was looking for new worlds to conquer after the wallowing she gave Bingham school last Saturday. The crowd was hungry for ball, and rooted like little men at every occasion.

The Leaguers were going some every moment, while Ray and his boys kept plenty of yells coming their way all the time. Terry Greeson for the school boys lined out a hot three-bagger just when that class of goods was most in demand. Ray pitched for his schoolmates in great style and retired twelve big leaguers to meditate over his curves. For the Twins Swindell and Doyle did the box-work and caught ten little Whitsett men for strike-outs.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Twins 200 101 00x—4 4 2
Whitsett 000 000 100—1 4 4
Batteries: Ray and Young; Swindell, Doyle and Galvin; Umpire, Brown of Winston. Times, 1 hour, 45 minutes. Attendance—400.

Elon Meets Wake Forest Here Today

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock Wake Forest and Elon College will meet on Cone park diamond. The teams have a good record behind them and an interesting college game is to be expected. As this will probably be the final college game of the season it is expected that a large crowd will go out to witness the contest.

HIGH SCHOOL
TRACK MEET HERE
THURSDAY AFTERNOON

After several futile attempts to arrange contests, the Greensboro High School track team now has a week of hard work scheduled. Two meets will be held, one of which the management has succeeded in securing for this place. Thursday afternoon, April 27, beginning at 3:30 o'clock, Greensboro, High Point and Jamestown high schools will struggle for the supremacy of the track. The Jamestown team has already been victorious in a big meet while High Point tied for first place in a contest held by a large number of high schools. The latter team has been increased and strengthened, and both are in excellent trim. Greensboro's records are highly creditable and insure a hard struggle for each of the eleven events to be contested.

The meet will be held in the auditorium and the nominal admission fee of 25c. will be charged.

Friday afternoon the team will leave for Raleigh to hold a dual meet with the boys of that city on Saturday morning. Incidentally the baseball team will also take the trip, determined to seek sweet revenge in a clean victory over the Raleigh nine during the afternoon. The outcome of these contests will determine Greensboro's standing in the spring athletics, and, on the track especially where they have a clean page, the boys are confident that the strenuous efforts put forth will bring the laurel of victory to the Greensboro highs.

WEARNPresident of Carolina
League Calls on Managers of Teams to Enforce the Rules.

Managers of all the ball clubs in the Carolina Association have received from President J. H. Wearn the following letter that may be of interest to fans:

To Managers and Players:

The league desires as creditable a campaign as possible, and your assistance in conforming with these regulations will be greatly appreciated as a rigid enforcement of order on the ball field is necessary.

The umpire is the sole judge of play, his decision can not be questioned, and any one violating the rule providing for this authority, will be dealt with accordingly.

If any one is ordered from the game, he must leave the playing field instantly, and he cannot appear again during the progress of the game from which he was expelled.

When a manager, captain or player is under suspension, he will not be permitted any of the privileges of the playing field during the progress of a game, and he will not be allowed to sit on the bench, either in uniform or citizen dress, or occupy any position on the ball field. Managers, captains and players are especially warned against attacking the umpire in any manner after the completion of the game, or by any overt or secret action try to influence the spectators against him and cause him bodily harm. Any one resorting to such cowardly tactics will be dealt with to the limit.

Notify the players to take their positions promptly when play is called and to make changes between innings as quickly as possible.

I call especial attention to Art. 8, Sec. 6 of the by-laws, which reads as follows: The captain or manager of any club who by his orders causes his team to leave the field during the progress of a championship game shall be fined $50.00 and his club shall forfeit claim to any share of gate receipts.

The league desires to accord the players every consideration and trusts to have the co-operation of all in maintaining a satisfactory standard of deportment.
